Not for distribution or release in the United States

This presentation is issued by Evolution Mining Limited (“Company” or “Evolution” or “EVN”).

This presentation has been prepared in relation to the proposed acquisition of Barrick Cowal (Pty) Limited (owner of the Cowal Gold Mine) (“Cowal”) and a pro-rata accelerated renounceable entitlement offer of new ordinary shares in Evolution (“New Shares”) to fund in part the acquisition, to be made to:

- eligible institutional shareholders of Evolution (“Institutional Entitlement Offer”); and
- eligible retail shareholders of Evolution (“Retail Entitlement Offer”), under section 708AA of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (“ Corporations Act”), as modified by ASIC Class Order [CO 08/35] (together, the “Entitlement Offer”).

Information in relation to Evolution

This presentation contains summary information about Evolution and its subsidiaries and their activities which is current as at the date of this presentation. The information in this presentation is a general background and does not purport to be complete or to provide all information that an investor should consider when making an investment decision. It has been prepared by Evolution with due care but no representation or warranty, express or implied, is provided in relation to the accuracy or completeness of the information. Statements in this presentation are made only as of the date of this presentation unless otherwise stated and the information in this presentation remains subject to change without notice. Evolution is not responsible for updating, nor undertakes to update, this presentation. It should be read in conjunction with Evolution’s other periodic and continuous disclosure announcements lodged with the Australian Securities Exchange (“ASX”), which are available at www.asx.com.au.

Limitation on information in relation to La Mancha Australia

All information in this presentation in relation to La Mancha Australia (“La Mancha Australia”) - including in relation to production, resources and reserves, costs, financial information and life of mine plans - has been sourced from La Mancha International BV and its subsidiaries. Whilst steps have been taken to review that information, no representation or warranty, expressed or implied, is made as to its fairness, accuracy, correctness, completeness or adequacy.

Limitation on information in relation to Cowal

All information in this presentation in relation to Cowal - including in relation to production, resources and reserves, costs, financial information and life of mine plans - has been sourced from Barrick Gold Corporation and its subsidiaries. Whilst steps have been taken to review that information, no representation or warranty, expressed or implied, is made as to its fairness, accuracy, correctness, completeness or adequacy. The resources value for Cowal includes reserves and measured and inferred resources estimated and disclosed according to Canadian NI 43-101 standards. The resources and reserves estimates and disclosures for Cowal do not purport to be JORC compliant.

Reserves and resources reporting of Evolution, La Mancha and Cowal

Investors should note that it is a requirement of the Australian Securities Exchange listing rules that the reporting of ore reserves and mineral resources in Australia comply with the Australasian Joint Ore Reserves Committee Code for Reporting of Mineral Resources and Ore Reserves (the JORC Code), whereas mining companies in other countries may be required to report their ore reserves and/or mineral resources in accordance with other guidelines (for example, SEC Industry Guide 7 in the United States). Investors should note that while the Company’s and La Mancha Australia’s mineral resource and ore reserve estimates comply with the JORC Code, and the Cowal ore reserves and mineral resource estimates comply with Canadian NI 43-101 standards, they may not comply with the relevant guidelines in other countries, and do not comply with SEC Industry Guide 7. In particular, SEC Industry Guide 7 does not recognise classifications other than proven and probable reserves and, as a result, the SEC generally does not permit mining companies to disclose their mineral resources, including indicated and inferred resources, in SEC filings. Accordingly, if the Company, La Mancha Australia and Cowal were reporting in accordance with SEC Industry Guide 7, they would not be permitted to report any mineral resources, including indicated and inferred resources, and the amount of reserves reported by each of the Company, La Mancha and Cowal may be lower than their respective estimates. You should not assume that quantities reported as “resources” will be converted to reserves under the JORC Code or any other reporting regime or that the Company, La Mancha Australia or Cowal will be able to legally and economically extract them. In addition, investors should note that under SEC Industry Guide 7, mine life may only be reported based on ore reserves. Mine life estimates in this presentation assume that a portion of non-reserve resources will be converted to ore reserves, which would not be permitted under SEC Industry Guide 7.

Not financial product advice

This presentation is for information purposes only and is not a prospectus, product disclosure statement or other offer document under Australian law or the law of any other jurisdiction. This presentation is not a financial product or investment advice, a recommendation to acquire New Shares or accounting, legal or tax advice. It has been prepared without taking into account the objectives, financial or tax situation or needs of individuals. Before making an investment decision, prospective investors should consider the appropriateness of the information having regard to their own objectives, financial and tax situation and needs and seek legal and taxation advice appropriate for their jurisdiction. Evolution is not licensed to provide financial product advice in respect of an investment in shares. Cooling off rights do not apply to the acquisition of New Shares.

Any such forward looking statements are also based on current assumptions which may ultimately prove to be materially incorrect. Investors should consider the forward looking forward looking statements contained in this presentation in light of those disclosures. The forward looking statements are based on information available to Evolution as at the date of this presentation. (1) This information is extracted from the report entitled ‘Transformational acquisition of Cowal Gold Mine’ released to ASX on 25 May 2015 and is available to view on www.evolutionmining.com.au. The resources value for Cowal includes reserves and measured, indicated and inferred resources estimated and disclosed according to Canadian NI 43-101 standards. The reserves and resources estimates and disclosures for Cowal do not purport to be JORC compliant.
(2) Resources are inclusive of Reserves
(3) Mining at Cowal currently permitted to 2024. Production under the current Business Plan continues until 2026 assuming permit extension. Excludes extension potential from underground development, tailings reprocessing and exploration.
(4) Circuits can be reconfigured to handle oxide or sulphide ore – currently configured for sulphide. 7.7 Mtpa is the capacity for sulphide ore. Oxide ore can be processed at up to 7.9 Mtpa. Note that the processing plant is currently permitted to operate at 7.5 Mtpa.
Mining and processing

Mining

- Currently mining the E42 ore body
- Conventional drill and blast, load and haul operation
- Fleet will be owned, operated and maintained by Evolution
- Low strip ratio contributes to strong cash flows

Geology and exploration potential

- The Cowal gold deposits are structurally hosted (epithermal to mesothermal) gold deposits composed of sheeted veins and shear hosted lodes.
- Exploration over the Cowal tenements has advanced sporadically since the E42 gold discovery in the mid-1980s.
- Historical geophysical work has included aeromagnetic surveys, infill gravity, and induced polarisation (IP) and electromagnetic (EM) surveys.
- E42 is surrounded by structural extensions and potential satellite operations including: E46 West, E46 East, Regal, Galway, E41 East and E41 West.
- Limited exploration expenditure in recent years provides Evolution with the opportunity to explore and develop upside potential.
Strong production history and range of upside opportunities

1. Operating cost initiatives under Evolution management
   - Leverage Evolution’s operating expertise to reduce operating costs and improve production efficiencies
   - Identified cost reduction opportunities and revision to resources calculation basis (1) indicates the possibility of a material increase in reserves and mine life

2. Potential for mine life extension through development (2)
   - E42 expansion
   - E46W and E41 satellite pits
   - E46E underground development

3. Identified exploration targets
   - E41, E46, South Cowal and the Regal and Galway Deeps
   - Regional exploration in recent years has been limited
   - Long mine life and strong cash flow provide opportunity to explore and develop upside opportunities

(1) Evolution has a gold price assumption of A$1,350 for calculating reserves at all five of its existing operations
(2) Subject to permitting approval
The Evolution value proposition

Australia
- Low risk, politically stable jurisdiction
- Third largest gold producing country globally
- Costs rapidly reducing
- Australian dollar depreciation
- Evolution acquiring a high quality asset in New South Wales

Delivery
- Delivered on guidance since creation
- Delivered a significant development project (Mt Carlton)
- Delivering on productivity improvements and cost reduction initiatives
- Delivering a logical, value accretive acquisition opportunity

Shareholder returns
- Unique dividend policy linked to gold production and price
- Expected strong cash flows from Cowal to underpin debt repayment and future dividends

Growth
- Expected strong cash flow to fund exploration
- Pursue logical, value accretive opportunities to improve portfolio quality
- Cowal acquisition provides attractive opportunities for organic growth

This information is extracted from the report entitled “Annual Mineral Resources and Ore Reserves Statement 2014” created on 14 May 2015 and available to view at www.evolutionmining.com.au

Data is reported to significant figures to reflect appropriate precision and may not sum precisely due to rounding.

Mineral Resources are reported inclusive of Ore Reserves.

1 Includes stockpiles  + Twin Hills has not changed as it is being reported as 2004 JORC Code

Due to depletion of A39 at Mt Carlton and lower grade Ag, Cu for remaining resource at Mt Carlton, the 2014 Mineral Resources and Ore Reserves statement has been reported in gold ounces.

Cautionary Statement

These foreign estimates are not reported in accordance with the JORC Code.

A Competent Person has not yet done sufficient work to classify the foreign estimates as Mineral Resources or Ore Reserves in accordance with the JORC Code. However, Evolution notes the similarity of the Canadian NI 43-101 standards and the Australasian Code (JORC Code).

It is uncertain that following evaluation and/or further exploration work that these foreign estimates will be able to be reported as Mineral Resources or Ore Reserves in accordance with the JORC Code.

Data is reported to significant figures to reflect appropriate precision and may not sum precisely due to rounding.

Canadian Institute of Mining, Metallurgy and Petroleum (CIM) definitions were followed for Mineral Resources and Mineral Reserves.

US$1,400 per ounce, and a US$1.00 = A$1.11 exchange rate.

Bulk density varies from 1.74 t/m³ to 2.83 t/m³.

Mineral Reserves are estimated using an average long-term gold price of US$1,100 per ounce, and US$1.00 = A$1.10 exchange rate.

Proven category is stockpile material, hence no cut-off grade supplied.

Mineral Reserves as defined under CIM are equivalent to Ore Reserves as defined under JORC Code 2012.

This information is extracted from the report entitled “Evolution to Combine with La Mancha Australia to Form a leading Growth-focused Australian Gold Producer” created on 20 April 2015 and available to view at www.evolutionmining.com.au

Data is reported to significant figures to reflect appropriate precision and may not sum precisely due to rounding.

White Foil open pit Ore Reserve is reported above a 0.75g/t gold cut-off.

White Foil open pit Ore Reserve is based on Feb 2015 Ore Reserve estimate, plus January 2015 and February 2015 mine production.

White Foil open pit Mineral Resources are reported in two rows according to elevation: above 80m RL a lower cut-off grade is reported corresponding to possible open pit mining method and below 80m RL the resources are reported at a higher cut-off grade corresponding to a potential underground deposit and is reported as a global estimate.

White Foil open pit was reported as a global estimate above a nominal RL to reflect potential open pit methods. White Foil underground deposit is reported as a global estimate.

White Foil open pit Mineral Resources are not constrained by an A$1,800/oz shell, and reported resources are based on the 2013 Mineral Resource model depleted to 31 December 2014.

Frog's Leg Ore Reserve is reported above an indicative cut-off grade of 3.0 g/t gold for stoping and 0.8g/t gold for development.

Frog's Leg Mineral Resources are reported above an indicative cut-off grade of 2.5g/t gold.
Appendix E
Key risks
Key risks

- There are various risks associated with investing in Evolution, as with any stock market investment. This section sets out:
  - existing business and operational risks for Evolution - these risks are generally common to gold and silver mining operators in Australia including Cowal and La Mancha, and therefore they will be risks to which Evolution will continue to be exposed including if it acquires Cowal and/or La Mancha;
  - risks specific to Evolution’s proposed acquisition of Cowal;
  - risks specific to Evolution’s proposed acquisition of La Mancha Australia;
  - Entitlement Offer and share investment risks.

- Potential investors should consider whether the securities offered are a suitable investment having regard to their own personal investment objectives and financial circumstances and the risk factors set out below. Evolution has implemented appropriate strategies, actions, systems and safeguards for known risks; however, some are outside its control.

- While some common risk factors are set out below, it is not possible to produce an exhaustive list. The Evolution Directors recommend that potential investors consult their professional advisers before making any investment decisions.

Existing business and operational risks for Evolution

Production and cost estimates

- The ability of Evolution to achieve production targets, or meet operating and capital expenditure estimates on a timely basis cannot be assured. The assets of Evolution, as any others, are subject to uncertainty with ore tonnes, grade, metallurgical recovery, ground conditions, operational environment, funding for development, regulatory changes, accidents and other unforeseen circumstances such as unplanned mechanical failure of plant or equipment.

- Evolution prepares estimates of future production, cash costs and capital costs of production for its operations. No assurance can be given that such estimates will be achieved. Failure to achieve production or cost estimates or material increases in costs could have an adverse impact on Evolution's future cash flows, profitability, results of operations and financial condition.

- Costs of production may also be affected by a variety of factors, including: changing waste-to-ore ratios, ore grade metallurgy, labour costs, general inflationary pressures and currency exchange rates.

- Unforeseen production cost increases could result in Evolution not realising its operational or development plans or in such plans costing more than expected or taking longer to realise than expected. Any of these outcomes could have an adverse effect on Evolution's financial and operational performance.

Ore Reserves and Mineral Resources

- Evolution’s Ore Reserves and Mineral Resources are expressions of judgement based on industry practice, experience and knowledge and are estimates only. Estimates of Ore Reserves and Mineral Resources are necessarily imprecise and depend to some extent on interpretations which may prove inaccurate. No assurance can be given that the estimated reserves and resources are accurate or that the indicated level of gold, silver or any other mineral will be produced. Such estimates are, in large part, based on interpretations of geological data obtained from drill holes and other sampling techniques. Actual mineralisation or geological conditions may be different from those predicted. No assurance can be given that any or all of Evolution's Mineral Resources constitute or will be converted into reserves.

- Market price fluctuations of gold as well as increased production and capital costs may render Evolution's Ore Reserves unprofitable to develop at a particular site or sites for periods of time or may render mineral reserves containing relatively lower grade mineralisation uneconomic. Estimated reserves may have to be recalculated based on actual production experience. Any of these factors may require Evolution to reduce its mineral reserves and resources, which could have a negative impact on Evolution's financial results and the expected operating life of its mines.

- Actual Ore Reserves and Mineral Resources may differ from those estimated, which could have a positive or negative effect on Evolution's financial performance.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Risk Area</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Replacement of depleted Ore Reserves</td>
<td>Evolution must continually replace reserves depleted by production to maintain production levels over the long term. Reserves can be replaced by expanding known ore bodies, locating new deposits or making acquisitions. Exploration is highly speculative in nature. Evolution's exploration projects involve many risks and are frequently unsuccessful. There is no assurance that current or future exploration programs will be successful. Also, if a discovery is made, it may take several years from the initial phases of drilling until production is possible. There is a risk that depletion of reserves will not be offset by discoveries or acquisitions or that divestitures of assets will lead to a lower reserve base. The reserve base of Evolution may decline if reserves are mined without adequate replacement and the Evolution may not be able to sustain production beyond the current mine lives, based on current production rates.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geological and geotechnical</td>
<td>There is a risk that unforeseen geological and geotechnical difficulties may be encountered when developing and mining Ore Reserves, such as unusual or unexpected geological conditions, pit wall failures, rock bursts, seismicity and cave-ins. In any of these events, a loss of revenue may be caused due to the lower than expected production and/or higher than anticipated operation and maintenance costs and/or on-going unplanned capital expenditure in order to meet production targets.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fluctuations in gold and silver prices</td>
<td>Evolution’s revenues are exposed to fluctuations in gold and silver prices. Volatility in gold and silver prices create revenue uncertainty and requires careful management of business performance to ensure that operating cash margins are maintained despite a fall in the spot gold price. The risks associated with such fluctuations and volatility may be minimised by any gold and silver price hedging Evolution may undertake. Declining gold and silver prices can also impact operations by requiring a reassessment of the feasibility of mine plans and certain projects and initiatives. The development of new ore bodies, commencement and timing of open pit cut backs, commencement of development projects and the ongoing commitment to exploration projects can all potentially be impacted by a decline in the prevailing gold and silver prices. Even if a project is ultimately determined to be economically viable, the need to conduct such a reassessment could potentially cause substantial delays and/or may interrupt operations, which may have a material adverse effect on Evolution’s results of operations and financial condition.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hedging risk</td>
<td>Evolution has hedging agreements in place for the forward sale of fixed quantities of gold production from its operations. There is a risk that Evolution may not be able to deliver the amount of gold required under its hedging arrangements if, for example, there is a production shortage. In this event, Evolution’s financial performance may be adversely affected. Under the hedging agreements, rising gold prices could result in part of Evolution’s gold production being sold at less than the prevailing spot price at the time of sale.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foreign exchange rate risk</td>
<td>Evolution is an Australian business that reports in Australian dollars. Evolution's revenue is derived from the sale of gold and silver in US dollars. However, costs are mainly incurred by the businesses in Australian dollars, therefore movements in the US$/A$ exchange rate may adversely or beneficially affect Evolution’s results of operations and cash flows. The risks associated with such fluctuations and volatility may be minimised by any currency hedging Evolution may undertake though there is no assurance as to the efficacy of such currency hedging.</td>

| Regulatory risks | The operations of Evolution are subject to various Federal, State and local laws and plans including those relating to mining, prospecting, development, permit and licence requirements, industrial relations, environment, land use, royalties, water, native title and cultural heritage, land access, mine safety and occupational health. |
| Approval licences and permits required to comply with such rules may, in some instances, be subject to the discretion of the applicable government or government officials, and, in some cases, the local community. No assurance can be given that Evolution will be successful in obtaining any or all of the various approvals, licences and permits or maintaining such authorisations in full force and effect without modification or revocation. To the extent such approvals are required and not retained or obtained in a timely manner or at all, Evolution may be curtailed or prohibited from continuing or proceeding with production and exploration. |
| For example, native title claims or issues on any existing or future tenements held by Evolution may potentially impact Evolution’s operations and future plans. For tenements that may still be subject to native title claims to be validly granted (or renewed), there are established statutory regimes that will need to be followed in connection with those tenements. |

| Water sources | The effects of changes in rainfall patterns, water shortages and changing storm patterns and intensities may adversely impact the costs, production levels and financial performance of Evolution’s operations. There is no guarantee that there will be sufficient future rainfall to support Evolution’s future water demands in relation to its sites and operations, and this could adversely affect production and Evolution’s ability to develop or expand projects and operations in the future. In addition, there can be no assurance that Evolution will be able to obtain alternative water sources on commercially reasonable terms or at all in the event of prolonged drought conditions. |

| Weather and climactic conditions | Some of Evolution’s sites and operations may be subject from time to time to severe storms and high rainfall leading to flooding and associated damage which may result in delays to or loss of production. |

| Insurance risk | Evolution maintains insurance coverage as determined appropriate by its board and management, but no assurance can be given that Evolution will continue to be able to obtain such insurance coverage at reasonable rates (or at all), or that any coverage it obtains will be adequate and available to cover all claims. |

| Environmental risks | Mining and exploration can be potentially environmentally hazardous, giving rise to potentially substantial costs for environmental rehabilitation, damage control and losses. Evolution is subject to environmental laws and regulations in connection with its operations and could be subject to liability due to risks inherent in its activities, including unforeseen circumstances. |
| The Cowal open pit is adjacent to Lake Cowal, NSW’s largest ephemeral lake. Given the environmental importance of this lake, Cowal employs an extensive network of surface water, groundwater, meteorological & biological monitoring for the operations. |

Completion risk
- There is no certainty that the acquisition will occur. Completion of the acquisition is subject to certain conditions as identified earlier in this presentation.
- If completion does not occur due to non-satisfaction of a condition precedent or otherwise, Evolution will need to consider alternative uses for, or ways to return the proceeds of, any subscriptions raised from Evolution shareholders under the Entitlement Offer. Also, certain transaction costs such as legal and advisory fees will still be payable by Evolution.

Debt funding risk
- Evolution has entered into financing commitments pursuant to which financiers have agreed to provide debt financing for the Cowal acquisition on certain terms and conditions. The financiers have a right to terminate the debt financing in certain circumstances (e.g. insolvency, compliance with bank covenants etc.).
- Evolution's agreement to acquire Cowal is not subject to financing. Therefore, termination of the debt financing agreement would mean that Evolution would have to seek alternative funding in potentially a very short time frame, the availability and terms of which are uncertain and may be less favourable to Evolution than if Evolution was not required to urgently raise funding to meet a legal commitment.

Due Diligence risks
- Evolution undertook a due diligence investigation process in respect of the Cowal acquisition and was provided with the opportunity to review certain detailed information provided by or on behalf of Barrick. While the Evolution considers that this review was adequate, the information was largely provided by Barrick. Consequently, Evolution has not been able to verify the accuracy, reliability or completeness of all the information which was provided to it against independent data and there is no assurance that the due diligence conducted was conclusive and that all material issues and risks in respect of the Cowal acquisition have been identified.
- Only limited contractual representations or warranties have been obtained in respect of the adequacy or accuracy of the materials disclosed during the due diligence process.

Integration risks
- An important factor which may impact the long-term success of Evolution is likely to be the successful integration of the business of Cowal into the Company. Whilst a committee comprising representatives from each of Evolution and Cowal will be established for the purpose of overseeing the integration process, difficulties may be encountered in connection with this process which could result in the failure of Evolution to realise some of the anticipated benefits of the Cowal acquisition or could result in those benefits being realised later than expected.
- Responsibility for the management of the operations at Cowal is expected to be transferred to Evolution after the completion of the Cowal acquisition. The methods adopted by Evolution in respect of operating Cowal may differ from the methods employed prior to the completion of the Cowal acquisition. This may result in revisions to reserves and resources, life of mines, methodology for calculating cash costs, production forecasts and exploration and development targets.
Risks specific to Evolution’s proposed acquisition of La Mancha Australia

Completion risk
- Completion of the acquisition of La Mancha Australia is subject to certain conditions precedent, including Evolution shareholder approval. If any condition precedent is not satisfied and completion does not occur, certain transaction costs such as legal and advisory fees will still be payable by Evolution.

Integration risks
- An important factor which may impact the long-term success of Evolution is likely to be the successful integration of the businesses of La Mancha Australia into Evolution. Whilst a committee comprising representatives from each of Evolution and the La Mancha Group has been established for the purpose of overseeing the integration process, difficulties may be encountered in connection with this process which could result in the failure of Evolution to realise some of the anticipated benefits of the acquisition or could result in those benefits being realised later than expected.
- Responsibility for the management of the operations at the Mungari Operation is expected to be transferred from La Mancha Group to Evolution after the implementation of the acquisition. The methods adopted by Evolution in respect of operating the Mungari Operation may differ from the methods employed prior to the implementation of the acquisition. This may result in revisions to reserves and resources, life of mines, methodology for calculating cash costs, production forecasts and exploration and development targets for the Mungari Operation.

La Mancha Australia vendor shareholding
- The consideration payable by Evolution to acquire La Mancha Australia is the issue of Evolution shares to the vendor, La Mancha Group International B.V. As a result of the implementation of the acquisition, the vendor will have an interest in Evolution of approximately 31%. As a result, while the vendor will not control Evolution, it may be able to exercise influence over all matters requiring shareholder approval by virtue of its shareholding, including the election of directors, significant corporate transactions and certain issues of equity securities, subject to all applicable laws. In this regard, the vendor's interests may not always be aligned with those of other shareholders in Evolution.
- Also, the vendor's interest in Evolution may also mean that its support for any proposal by a third party to acquire all of the shares in Evolution is likely to be important for that proposal to be successful. Further, it is possible that the presence of the vendor as a substantial shareholder in Evolution may be perceived by the market as reducing the likelihood of a takeover of Evolution. This may potentially cause Evolution shares to trade at a discount to the value at which they would trade if the vendor did not hold its stake in Evolution. In addition, the sale of Evolution shares in the future by the vendor (after its agreed equity lock-up period expires) may affect the market price of Evolution shares.

Contractual restrictions on change of control and assignment or novation
- Entities in the La Mancha Australia group are party to contracts containing change of control provisions that, in the absence of counterparty consent, may be triggered by completion of the La Mancha Australia acquisition. If a counterparty’s consent is not obtained, Evolution may lose the benefit of that contract (which could potentially be a material contract). This may potentially adversely impact Evolution’s operations and performance of the Mungari Operation.
- La Mancha Group has identified certain material contracts that contain change of control provisions, including Le Mancha Australia’s facility agreement, Perth office lease, and electricity and sale agreements relating to the supply of electricity to the Mungari CIL processing plant and the Frog’s Leg mine. Evolution currently believes it could replace these contracts, if required, on terms that are not materially worse than the current terms of the contracts.

| Dilution risk | If the La Mancha Australia acquisition (announced on 20 April 2015) completes, that will result in the issue of such number of Evolution shares to the La Mancha Australia vendor so as to result in that vendor having a 31% shareholding in Evolution. This will dilute the shareholding interests of all other Evolution shareholders.
Future issues of shares by Evolution will dilute the shareholding interests of Evolution shareholders, to the extent that the share issues do not occur under a pro rata entitlement offer or, if they do occur under a pro rata entitlement offer, entitlements are not taken up. |
| La Mancha restructure | The La Mancha Australia vendor must use its best endeavours to procure that the "La Mancha Restructure" occurs prior to completion, subject to confirmation from the WA OSR that the transactions to give effect to the transfer will not be liable to duty under the Duties Act 2008 (WA). The La Mancha Restructure involves the transfer of a company called La Mancha Amalco Holdings Pty Ltd (“Amalco) by Toledo Holdings (Ausco) Pty Ltd to another member of the La Mancha Group.
If the La Mancha Restructure does not occur prior to completion of the acquisition, Evolution will acquire Amalco and any liabilities or obligations associated with it, including any potential litigation liabilities. If the La Mancha Restructure is not implemented prior to completion, the vendor indemnifies Evolution for certain matters as a result of Amalco continuing to be part of La Mancha Australia for a period of five years following completion. The potential liabilities of Amalco (which would be inherited by Evolution if the La Mancha Restructure is not implemented prior to Completion) include the risk of claims made against Amalco in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings of its 95% subsidiary Minera Patagonia S.A. (a company incorporated in Argentina). The likelihood or quantum of these claims cannot be estimated accurately at this time. |

Underwriting risk

Evolution has entered into an underwriting agreement under which the underwriter has agreed to fully underwrite the Entitlement Offer, subject to the terms and conditions of the Underwriting Agreement between the parties. If certain conditions are not satisfied or certain events occur, the underwriter may terminate the Underwriting Agreement. Termination of the Underwriting Agreement would have an adverse impact on the proceeds raised under the Entitlement Offer and Evolution's sources of funding for the Cowal acquisition. If the Underwriting Agreement is terminated Evolution will not be entitled to terminate the Share Sale Deed for the Cowal acquisition. In these circumstances Evolution would need to find alternative funding to meet its contractual obligations. Termination of the Underwriting Agreement could materially adversely affect Evolution's business, cash flow, financial condition and results of operations.

These conditions to the Underwriting Agreement include that the Share Sale Deed and the debt commitment letters for the Cowal acquisition have been entered into and not been terminated, and are not capable of being terminated by a party.

Termination and restructure events

There are certain events which trigger termination or restructure of the Underwriting Agreement during the Institutional Entitlement Offer and Retail Entitlement Offer periods. The ability of the underwriter to terminate the Underwriting Agreement in respect of some events will depend on whether the event has or is likely to have a material adverse effect on the success, marketing or settlement of the Entitlement Offer, the value of the shares, or the willingness of investors to subscribe for shares, or where they may give rise to liability for the underwriter.

Institutional Entitlement Offer

The events which may trigger termination of the Underwriting Agreement in the period from execution of the Underwriting Agreement to settlement of the Institutional Entitlement Offer include where:

- Evolution is suspended from the official list of ASX for one or more trading days (other than in connection with the bid or the Entitlement Offer) or its shares are delisted or suspended from quotation;
- Evolution alters its capital structure;
- Evolution or a material subsidiary of Evolution is or becomes insolvent;
- Evolution’s CEO or CFO has their employment terminated for any reason;
- Evolution’s directors engage in fraud or commit certain offences.

In addition to these termination events, there are certain other defined restructure events including market disruption, hostilities, regulatory action, Evolution representations and warranties are untrue, change in law, contravention of the law or the ASX Listing Rules, offences by directors, a breach by Evolution of its obligations or material adverse change. If any such event occurs prior to the settlement of the Institutional Entitlement Offer, the underwriter's obligation to underwrite at the offer price and in accordance with the current timetable would cease to apply, in which case the underwriter and Evolution would be required to work together in good faith to agree amendments to the Underwriting Agreement to implement an alternative capital raising that enables Evolution to pursue the Cowal acquisition. In such circumstances, there is no guarantee that the underwriter will agree appropriate and timely amendments to the Underwriting Agreement.

Retail Entitlement Offer

- In addition to the Institutional Entitlement Offer termination and restructure events, there are certain events which may occur in the period from settlement of the Institutional Entitlement Offer to settlement of the Retail Entitlement Offer which trigger termination of the Underwriting Agreement. These termination events include where:
  - A disclosure in the due diligence committee report or verification materials is or becomes misleading or deceptive, including by way of omission;
  - The documentation for the Entitlement Offer or any aspect of the Entitlement Offer does not comply with the Corporations Act, ASX Listing Rules, the ASX Waivers or any other applicable law;
  - A member of the Evolution Group breaches or defaults under any provision, undertaking, covenant or ratio of a material debt or financial arrangement or any related documentation which has an adverse effect on the Evolution Group;
  - An event of default or event which gives a lender or financier the right to accelerate or require repayment of debt or financing or other similar material event occurs under or in respect to any such debt or financing arrangement or related document occurs which has an adverse effect on the Evolution Group;
  - A scheme of arrangement or reconstruction is announced by Evolution, or another offer to shareholders is announced by another person, which, if implemented may result in a person and their associates acquiring a beneficial interest in, or voting power of, 50% or more of the interests in Evolution; or
  - An event that would have been a restructure event during the Institutional Entitlement Offer period occurs during this period.

Renouncement risk

- Eligible shareholders who renounce their entitlement under the Entitlement Offer are not guaranteed to receive any value for their renounced entitlement through the bookbuild process.
- The ability to sell New Shares under the bookbuilds and the ability to obtain any premium will be dependent upon various factors, including market conditions.
- To the maximum extent permitted by law, Evolution, the underwriter and the respective related bodies corporate, affiliates or the directors, officers, employees or advisors of any of them, will not be liable, including for negligence, for any failure to procure applications under the bookbuilds at a price in excess of the offer price.
- Eligible shareholders who do not take up all of their entitlement will have their percentage security holding in Evolution diluted by not participating to the full extent in the Entitlement Offer.

Dividends

- Any future determination as to the payment of dividends by Evolution will be at the discretion of the Directors and will depend on the financial condition of Evolution, future capital requirements and general business and other factors considered relevant by the Directors. No assurance in relation to the continued or future payment of dividends or franking credits attaching to dividends can be given by Evolution.

International Offer Restrictions

This document does not constitute an offer of entitlements ("Entitlements") or new ordinary shares ("New Shares") of the Company in any jurisdiction in which it would be unlawful. In particular, this document may not be distributed to any person, and the Entitlements and New Shares may not be offered or sold, in any country outside Australia except to the extent permitted below.

Canada (British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec provinces)

This document constitutes an offering of Entitlements and New Shares only in the Provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec (the "Provinces") and to those persons to whom they may be lawfully distributed in the Provinces, and only by persons permitted to sell such securities. This document is not, and under no circumstances is to be construed as, an advertisement or a public offering of securities in the Provinces. This document may only be distributed in the Provinces to persons that are "accredited investors" within the meaning of NI 45-106 – Prospectus and Registration Exemptions, of the Canadian Securities Administrators.

No securities commission or similar authority in the Provinces has reviewed or in any way passed upon this document, the merits of the Entitlements or the New Shares or the offering of such securities and any representation to the contrary is an offence.

No prospectus has been, or will be, filed in the Provinces with respect to the offering of Entitlements or New Shares or the resale of such securities. Any person in the Provinces lawfully participating in the offer will not receive the information, legal rights or protections that would be afforded had a prospectus been filed and receipted by the securities regulator in the applicable Province. Furthermore, any resale of the Entitlements or the New Shares in the Provinces must be made in accordance with applicable Canadian securities laws which may require resales to be made in accordance with exemptions from dealer registration and prospectus requirements.

The Company, and the directors and officers of the Company, may be located outside Canada, and as a result, it may not be possible for Canadian purchasers to effect service of process within Canada upon the Company or its directors or officers. All or a substantial portion of the assets of the Company and such persons may be located outside Canada, and as a result, it may not be possible to satisfy a judgment against the Company or such persons in Canada or to enforce a judgment obtained in Canadian courts against the Company or such persons outside Canada.

Any financial information contained in this document has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and also comply with International Financial Reporting Standards and interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board.

Statutory rights of action for damages and rescission

Securities legislation in certain of the Provinces may provide purchasers with, in addition to any other rights they may have at law, rights of rescission or to damages, or both, when an offering memorandum that is delivered to purchasers contains a misrepresentation. These rights and remedies must be exercised within prescribed time limits and are subject to the defenses contained in applicable securities legislation. Prospective purchasers should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of their respective Province for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser.

The following is a summary of the statutory rights of rescission or to damages, or both, available to purchasers in Ontario. In Ontario, every purchaser of the Entitlements or the New Shares purchased pursuant to this document (other than (a) a "Canadian financial institution" or a "Schedule III bank" (each as defined in NI 45-106), (b) the Business Development Bank of Canada or (c) a subsidiary of any person referred to in (a) or (b) above, if the person owns all the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by the directors of that subsidiary) shall have a statutory right of action for damages and/or rescission against the Company if this document or any amendment thereto contains a misrepresentation. If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the Company. This right of action for rescission or damages is in addition to and without derogation from any other right the purchaser may have at law. In particular, Section 130.1 of the Securities Act (Ontario) provides that, if this document contains a misrepresentation, a purchaser who purchases the Entitlements and the New Shares during the period of distribution shall be deemed to have relied on the misrepresentation at the time of purchase and has a right of action for damages or, alternatively, may elect to exercise a right of rescission against the Company, provided that (a) the Company will not be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased such securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation; (b) in an action for damages, the Company is not liable for all or any portion of the damages that the Company proves does not represent the depreciation in value of such securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon; and (c) in no case shall the amount recoverable exceed the price at which such securities were offered.

Section 138 of the Securities Act (Ontario) provides that no action shall be commenced to enforce these rights more than (a) in the case of any action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or (b) in the case of any action, other than an action for rescission, the earlier of (i) 180 days after the purchaser first had knowledge of the fact giving rise to the cause of action or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action. These rights are in addition to and not in derogation from any other right the purchaser may have.

Certain Canadian income tax considerations. Prospective purchasers of the Entitlements and the New Shares should consult their own tax adviser with respect to any taxes payable in connection with the acquisition, holding or disposition of such securities as any discussion of taxation related matters in this document is not a comprehensive description and there are a number of substantive Canadian tax compliance requirements for investors in the Provinces.

Language of documents in Canada. Upon receipt of this document, each investor in Canada hereby confirms that it has expressly requested that all documents evidencing or relating in any way to the sale of the New Shares (including for greater certainty any purchase confirmation or any notice) be drawn up in the English language only. Par la réception de ce document, chaque investisseur canadien confirme par les présentes qu’il a expressément exigé que tous les documents faisant foi ou se rapportant de quelque manière que ce soit à la vente des valeurs mobilières décrites aux présentes (incluant, pour plus de certitude, toute confirmation d’achat ou tout avis) soient rédigés en anglais seulement.
